Domaine de Cambes

Bordeaux Rouge

ABOUT THE ESTATE

- Part of the same portfolio that produces Tertre Roteboeuf, Roc de Cambes is François Mitjavile's Côtes de Bourg property.
- These wines elevate this humble appellation by utilizing the best terroir in the region, with 12 hectares on Les Croûtes.
- The clay-limestone soil on a south-facing amphitheater echoes that of Tertre Roteboeuf.
- Roc de Cambes also encompasses Domaine de Cambes, a separate vineyard with more clay in its soil composition and less limestone.
- The wines from this property show the same care and attention to detail as Tertre Roteboeuf, providing an accessible look into one of the greatest estates in Bordeaux.

VINEYARDS & VITICULTURE
Often mistakenly viewed as the second wine of Roc des Cambes, Domaine de Cambes is actually a separate vineyard, with more clay in its soil composition and less limestone. This soil remains cool, allowing for an extended growing season. The grape varieties are approximately 55% Merlot, 40% Cabernet Franc, and 5% Malbec.

HARVEST & VINIFICATION
After hand harvest and primary fermentation in concrete, the wine is then matured in an average of 50% new oak barrels for 15- 18 months.
